Torre Tenosa, located close to the old university town of Camerino, is a 14th-century watchtower, which in medieval times used to belong to the Duchy of Varano chain of towers. The character of the tower from the ground floor to the roof has been maintained using a gallery-style bed and bathroom (1st and 2nd floors). The tower is equipped with a dishwasher, washing machine, Internet access via laptop computer, telephone, Sat-TV and new furniture. Throughout the renovation importance was placed on using environmentally sound building materials and paints. During the colder winter months a modern copper-tubing heating system hidden in the walls maintains a warm and cosy atmosphere. An independent access road to a private car park in front of the tower ensures easy access.
